Powerful Enclosure to Protect Your Nextiva IP Box Camera

Box cameras are excellent for a wide variety of applications that may require special lens configurations, or where a camera needs to be positioned indiscreetly for visual deterrence. The Nextiva VPOE-1 offers secure protection for any Nextiva IP box camera in a streamlined enclosure. Created for both indoor and outdoor environments, the VPOE-1 helps shield the camera lens from harsh environmental conditions. A built-in heater keeps the camera warm and operating all the way down to -40° C (-40° F). Additionally, a built-in blower keeps air circulating to reduce fog/frost build up and to keep the camera cool all the way up to 50° C (122° F). Finally, the enclosure includes a Sunshield designed to keep heat away from the main enclosure as well as assists keeps sunlight from penetrating the camera's lens.

The VPOE-1's versatile and sturdy mounting arm provides cable management — firmly and securely holding the housing in place to reduce shake. The aluminum enclosure protects the camera from weather as well as vandalism.
